

MeTA Core principles

The following core principles underpin MeTA's approach. Signing up to these principles is an important first step for all stakeholders wanting to engage in the MeTA process.

- Governments are responsible for providing access to health care, including access to essential medicines.
- Stronger and more transparent systems and improved supply chain management will increase access.
- Increasing equitable access to medicines improves health and enables other human development objectives to be achieved.
- Improved information about medicines can inform public debate, and provide a basis for better policy.
- A multi-stakeholder approach that involves all sectors – private, public and civil society - will lead to greater accountability.
